Are You a “Negaholic”?

Tampa, Fla. (May 1, 2014). Have you ever heard the word “negaholic” before? Well, it is a term that is used to describe a person that is basically a pessimist with the added factor of a thinking pattern that contributes to one looking at the negative side of any experience. A “negaholic” is a person whose vocabulary is sprinkled with words like: can’t, disappointed, discouraged, sad etc. There is also a tendency to focus on one’s errors and how things didn’t work out. Some questions to ask yourself are:

- Do you find yourself expecting the worst and expecting disappointment?
- Do you tend to focus on your flaws and limitations rather than your strengths and successes?
- Do you tend to underestimate your good points?

Some effective strategies to help yourself deal with “negaholic” thinking is to:

- Intentionally focus on one positive acknowledgment of something positive each day
- Challenge a negative thought by forcing yourself to come up with one positive possibility
- Make a list of strengths and focus on one of them for an entire week

A good book to read on this subject is Negaholics: How to Overcome Negativity and Turn Your Life Around by Cherie Carter-Scott, Ph.D.

Remember that the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) is a benefit available to all employees and dependents of companies contracted with Wood & Associates for providing confidential free professional assistance 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Remember that you or a dependent may contact the EAP regarding any concern that you might have – you don't have to wait until a problem becomes big to seek help. Above all, keep in mind that concerns develop over time but the way you address them can be changed. So, if you are struggling with “negaholic” thinking or behavior or help in dealing with another about whom you are concerned, help is just a phone call away.

Sometimes dealing with letting go of old patterns can feel overwhelming because we've been responding in the same old way over and over. So if you are struggling with the question of what you need to change or want to change and need some help in accomplishing your goal, help is a phone call away. The EAP can help you find a new path so that change is managed, relationships are healed, support systems are developed, and expectations are kept realistic.
